The water level in the lagoon was the lowest I have ever seen and the sight of sandbanks fully exposed left us with no choice but to set a narrow course for both the 10 raters and Soling 1Ms. The day was very pleasant with temperatures in the low twenties and the wind showed some promise early on but then slowly weakened by mid afternoon. The course was shortened to just one triangle once the wind abated and at times I was not sure that the races would be completed before the timeout. First up were the Solings and after 8 races the day was won by Phil, followed by Ian, with Michael in third place. In the 10 Rater event Ian came in first, with Phil in second place and Maurice in third.
